Atong's plea bargain
gets him 6 years in jail

By Jocelyn R. Uy

CHARLIE "ATONG" ANG, A FORMER GAMBLING boss of deposed President Joseph Estrada, was sentenced yesterday to between two years and four months and six years in prison instead of up to 40 years.

The Sandiganbayan ruled on the sentence on part of the deal Ang had struck with the DOJ.

Satur taken for a ride

THE CABINET'S NATIONAL SECURITY cluster was the cause behind the move to hastily transfer Rep. Satur Ocampo to a Leyte jail, an indication of official Malacañang involvement in the abusive operation, Inquirer sources said yesterday.

Palace officials said the group—officially called the Cabinet Oversight Committee on Internal Security (COCIS)—just recently to discuss several issues, but spent much of its time on the case of Ocampo, the pallid lawmaker charged with the murders of two retired military spies, whose supposed clerical mistakes were linked in a mass grave in a Leyte town.

Amid the strong show of support from a cross-section of society, Antonio broke into tears while his father was in a police cage, awaiting a final decision in his case for the 1984 Hiligayon in Leyte.

"I don't want him to go on like this... his screaming and he still finds it difficult to be with his children and grandchildren," Antonio lamented in Filipino, noting that last Friday was the third time that his father had been arrested.

"That's why I ask for your support and prayers," he told his audience.

Antonio and his family received plenty of support from opposition students, human rights lawyers, academics and members of the religious who banded yesterday into the "Free Satur, Stand for Justice" movement.

The police and military Bayan Muna Rep. Satur Ocampo, the man they had intended to bring before a Leyte judge to answer charges of multiple murders, were instead taken to Manila, sources said.

Two and a half hours in the flight and while flying over Mindanao, the Ocampo plane unexpectedly turned back and the four-van operation—carried out with Malacañang's backing—turned into what Ocampo later described as "a farce."

The flight was aborted by his son Satur Judge Eustacio Alameda himself who ordered Ocampo's appearance before his court docketed. Meanwhile order would allow Ocampo to remain in Manila, for the time being.

"It was a farce. We flew out of Manila and just returned. It was quite [an awkward]...," the 67-year-old congressman told the Inquirer upon his return.

Meet the Romeros: 3 generations of mistakes

By Cathy S. Bakula-Guballa

CADRE 1ST CLASS MANO ANTONIO Romero of the "Mangrove" Class of 2007 ended a place in Philippine Military Academy history by becoming only the third graduate of a three-generation PMA family.

His grandfather, Brig. Gen. Antonio Romero, was a member of Class 1941.

His father, Armed Forces of the Philippines Vice Chief of Staff Maj. Gen. Antonio L. Romero II, belongs to Class 1974.

Yesterday, it was Marc's turn to graduate from the academy and join the Philippine Army.

Protect republic, GMA tells PMA cadets

By Michael Line Wilson

BAGUIO CITY—SHOWING NO SIGN of letting up on her all-out war against terrorism and statelessness, President Macapagal-Arroyo yesterday told the new graduates of the Philippine Military Academy to protect the republic from those who would sow terror.

"We will go and we will fight," the President declared in her speech before the 282 members of the Mangrove Class of 2007, capped by women leader Andreea S. Mojica, on the academy's fourteenth field.

Ms. Arroyo acknowledged that the fresh graduates were "radical" to go to war—Jab, Sab, but she also urged them to "build schools, roads, feed the children, teach them to read, and you will understand our mother's religion."

With the newly signed Human Security Act, more popularly known as the anti-terror law, and knowing its very equipment such as helicopters for the Armed Forces of the Philippines, Ms. Arroyo said the young soldiers were in a better position to ensure that all citizens "enjoy equal protection and freedom from fear."

"And this is what you Mangrove Class 2007 will provide for the people," the President stressed. "The love of political stability must be ours in all other facets of our national life rather than just in terrorism and anti-terrorism, sadism, inevitable human, public mobility free from class."

The President said that through the new second instrument, "government will reach the further corners of the land and secure their security and freedom. Because you... will be an officer of a powerful and productive life among our people."

Her marching orders to the new soldiers: "There's a leader's heart."

Ms. Arroyo said she did not need to re-

Ex-Cebu vice gov charged with drug smuggling

By Jacques Miquelot
English Editor

CHINA-CPIS—JERUSALEM CHARGES have been filed against former CPIS Vice Gov. John Gregory "Nedjapay" Gonsky and 20 others before the Department of Justice in Florida for allegedly swindling FLA $1.6 billion worth of a dollar equivalent from China's Australia via Citibank from 1989-1991.

But Orono's father, former Sen. John H. Orono, criticized the timing of the case filing and suspected Malachuk's bid to embarrass him as a potential candidate of the opposition side or, like the opposition, through the

He also suggested that Olynthus Edwards Collins might have possessed the film of the case because he not wanted to run against him in the first election.

In an interview on Sunday night, the Philippine Drug Enforcement Agency (PDEA) denied that the filing was politically motivated. It filed the case on March 11 because PDEA personnel had to evaluate all the documents, including the affidavits of witnesses, according to Linda Boudier, the agency's legal officer.

Sumner said yesterday appeared to be the total amount in Gaby based on the investigation and evidence presented by the Australian federal police.

Several witnesses, including former FBI regional chief Constance Fogarty, attested in their affidavits that the former vice president called on at least three people and killed for the release of the shipment of green dynamite, a chemical used to make drugs.

The chemical cargo was transported by train from China to Australia with Gribin as the transportation point. But due to restrictions, the shipment would be stored first in a Blue Star City warehouse before it could be transported to Australia.

The FDCA filed the charges of violations of the Comprehensive Dangerous Drugs Act (Republic Act No. 10641) illegal importation of dangerous drugs or controlled substances, attempt or conspiracy, criminal liability of government officials and employees, criminal liability of officers of partnership corporation, and liability of a person or

Other employees were Dick Cummings, who allegedly represented Coastwide Nations in the import documents; Dick J'Walt, a friend of Gennaro; Michael Emilio Sanchez and Alexander Carter, Coastwide Revenue specialists; Susan Brumfield, company manager; Leah Russell; and Maury Higgins (above).

"The King of this case, as the campaign period for the 2000 election approaches, leads me to suspect that Malachukong may have intentionally delayed this case and now causes its filing just to torpedo the Senate bid of a member of the opposition," Khintha's father said in a statement.
